

For the month of September, 2018, the Chicago District Regulatory Branch did not issue any approved jurisdictional determinations where the waters were determined to be isolated and therefore not regulated under the Clean Water Act.